Birdwatching & Lodging

At the gates of Chingaza National Park, you will find the nature reserve of Finca Suasie, an ideal place for national and foreign birdwatchers and nature lovers.

The cloud forests and moorlands are home to more than 200 species of high Andean birds.

The Suasie farm is a nature reserve located in the buffer zone of the Chingaza Park, between 3385 and 2970 meters above sea level, with cloud forests and moorland, it is a perfect place for bird and nature lovers.

According to the E-bird platform, 208 species of birds have been observed so far.

The house is located in the middle of the forest, only two hours away from Bogotá, and offers a natural environment in which you can walk through the farm and its surroundings.

More than 90% of our visitors are foreigners and what they have valued most about our services has been the attention and the food. You will enjoy delicious and nutritious dishes with typical ingredients of the Colombian gastronomy and peasant recipes, with vegetarian option.

In the evenings, we can gather around the around the fireplace.

This point is also very important because of its its proximity and easy access for those who want to visit Chingaza Park.
